

Reading 2-5: Literary Concepts: Main Ideas, Details, and Inferences

Identify and Analyze Characterization, Plot, and Setting

Plot

Students

Learning Continuum Statements:

Students:

RIT 161-170:

- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Identifies the resolution of conflict in literary text

Students:

RIT 171-180:

- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Identifies the resolution of conflict in literary text

Students:

RIT 181-190:

- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Identifies the resolution of conflict in literary text

Students:

RIT 191-200:

- Analyzes how dialogue advances plot in literary text
- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Identifies the resolution of conflict in literary text

Students:

RIT 201-210:

- Analyzes how dialogue advances plot in literary text
- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Identifies the resolution of conflict in literary text
- Identifies type of conflict in literary text

Students:

RIT 211-220:

- Analyzes how dialogue advances plot in literary text
- Identifies climax in literary text
- Identifies events that lead to resolution of problem/conflict
- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Understands definitions of types of literary conflict
- Understands development of plot in literary text
- Understands terms commonly used to describe plot

Students:

RIT 221-230:

- Analyzes how dialogue advances plot in literary text
- Identifies climax in literary text
- Identifies exposition in literary text
- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Understands development of plot in literary text
- Understands terms commonly used to describe plot

Students:

RIT 231-240:

- Analyzes how dialogue advances plot in literary text
- Identifies climax in literary text
- Identifies problem/conflict in literary text
- Identifies problem/conflict in poetry
- Understands development of plot in literary text
- Understands terms commonly used to describe plot

Students:

RIT 241-250:

- Understands development of plot in literary text